

Peter Yaholkovsky

*Senior Lead Family Consultant
The Williams Group*

Peter has an extensive background in linguistic foundations of action and relationships, having studied and worked with Dr. Fernando Flores at Logonet and Business Design Associates. He is certified by the Strozzi Institute as a Master Somatic Coach, with a special interest in developing the emotional skills for building trust relationships characterized by power differentials. He has consulted with families from diverse backgrounds, guiding them into appreciation and utilization of their shared long-term values. Peter's expertise is his unique ability to coach teams in building trust, both in family and in executive-level business situations. As a prelude to his consulting career for the past two decades, Peter practiced Internal Medicine as a Board Certified Internist after graduating from Stanford and UC Davis.
